

Are you a clear-cut communicator with a love for culture? This is your chance to join REFLEKTOR Light Festival and be part of an upcoming festival!

About REFLEKTOR Light Festival

An urban light art festival and public light knowledge event – this is REFLEKTOR explained in short. REFLEKTOR Light Festival is an upcoming festival, that took place for the first time in 2016. It is a festival with great ambitions for the future. And we need your bright ideas and skills to join us in getting there!

REFLEKTOR light activities unfold in two different formats: REFLEKTOR Light Festival; an annual festival taking place 4.-8. October 2017 in Søndermarken, Frederiksberg. And REFLEKTOR Light Hacks; smaller experimental light interventions taking place in connection to the festival all year round.

We are a flexible and easy-going young team of 3-5 people with diverse backgrounds such as lighting designer, art communicator, anthropologist, architect and much more - all working towards the same goal, to create activities centred around light, that focus on spreading the word and knowledge of light, putting places into new perspectives and showcasing spectacular light art in public spaces. We recently moved into the lovely co-working space Skrå and love spending our work days as part of a creative work community surrounded by fellow entrepreneurs!

About the internship

Together with the REFLEKTOR team you will develop communication strategies and execute all kinds of written communication tasks within the organisation and outside to the public. You will be communicating light art and other light related activities to a broad audience in both English and Danish. You will assist in handling press and partner communication and do small research tasks. Besides from communication activities you will be assisting on coordinating and keeping track of volunteers and artists.

From your internship will get experience in developing and managing events within the fields of urbanisation, art and culture. You will have the opportunity to follow the development of projects from A-Z and gain insights on how to build partnerships, do marketing, work with project management tools, conceptualisation and more. Also you'll have the opportunity to work with REFLEKTOR partner companies and organizations.

We are looking for a person who:

- Is a student within a communication-related educational field
- Has strong writing skills in both English and Danish and is not afraid to be creative and bold in writing
- Has experience in creating text that communicate clearly and professionally

- Has the abilities to take on tasks of writing newsletters, invitations, press releases etc.
- Is structured and a good coordinator and mediator
- Has an interest in arts and culture and knowledge of the field

We don't expect you to know everything, however it is important that you are not afraid to deal with tasks unknown to you. You have a curious mind and hold an entrepreneurial spirit. And most importantly, you are eager to put your spin on an upcoming festival, love meeting new people and get a kick from performing tasks in a buzzing and lively setting full of surprises!

About the position:

The position is unpaid an up to 30 hours a week (full time during the festival and the week before/after). Ideally, your internship will run from 1 August to 31 October 2017. However, we are flexible regarding working hours and starting date.

How to apply:

Send your application (max. 1 page) and CV to reflektor.lightfestival@gmail.com and write "Communication" in the subject line. Please direct any further questions to Head of Development, Communication & Research Christina Dvinge.

Application deadline: 16 June at 12 PM - interviews will be held in week 25 and 26.
